HOW TO Change Colors and Fonts

Introduction

After adding text (described in HOW TO Add Text to Your Store), you would probably like to change the colors or size, or change the background color behind the text. This guide covers changing colors and fonts.

Miva Merchant's Administrative Interface provides a straightforward way to change colors for text, links, and backgrounds, which we discuss in this section. We also discuss how to change the font face and size properties of text. (You can also change colors and font properties using HTML, which is discussed in HOW TO Change Text Using HTML.)

About this Guide

Store images, representing certain looks or features, are shown with labels and red arrows pointing to specific items in the store. The labels are links to an Administrative Interface image.

- Click the red callout in the store to go to the corresponding Administrative Interface page.
- To return to the store image page, click Adobe Reader's Go Back (Go to Previous View).

You will see one or more pages containing store images, followed by the corresponding Administrative Interface image. In this way, you should be able to locate the same entry point for the data you want to add to your store.

If you need more information for a specific function, go to <http://www.miva.com/docs/merchant/> and select the appropriate version link for the Miva Merchant User Guides.

Selecting Schemes

How do you know which colors and fonts to select as you create your store? This Guide will raise your awareness of the many options Miva Merchants provides. You could obtain color scheme and font selection ideas from the Look & Feel Configuration Wizard or from the samples provided here. You might also consider acquiring ideas from some of the many sites on the Web dealing with color schemes, typography, and overall Web design.

Miva Merchant provides an easy way to select your colors from a color selector. However, you may also choose to enter the HTML hex value for a color. Keep in mind the web safe palette colors to keep your store's colors universally compatible with various operating systems. Check web design sites for additional information about the web safe palette, and other color considerations. See the Internet Resources Guide in this series of publications.

Background Colors

Store Front

While you are choosing your color scheme, make the major color choices first. What are the color you want to dominate? These consist of the body background, and, if turned on, the navigation bar background and the category tree background colors, shown in the image below.

If no color had been selected for the Category Tree Background, the Body Background color (or image) would display behind the Category Tree.

Changing Background Colors

Miva Merchant provides an interface so you could easily change all the colors in your store in the same data page. The arrows below show the background colors displayed on the store front.

To Change Colors

1. Select your store name, then click the Colors link at the top of the data page.
2. Next to the item you want to change, enter the HTML Hex code (#ffffff) if you know it. Otherwise, click the color symbol:  (The Color Selector opens.)
3. Select the color you want, or enter the RGB values, then click Save.
4. Click the Update button at the bottom of the data page.

Foreground and Background Colors

The Product List Colors

Several pages of Miva Merchant stores contain List Headers, the bar at the top of rows or partitions of a page.

In addition to the Product List page, other pages also have List Headers:

- Category Product Layout (Line Item format)
- Customer Account Information
- Related Products (Line Item format)
- Basket Contents
- Several Order pages

In the Product List image below notice:

- the List Header Foreground refers to the text of the List Header. The text is the same color as the Body Background. This helps coordinate the look.
- the List Header Background background is the same color as the Navigation Bar background. This also helps to coordinate the look.

Notice that the odd rows get their color from the Body Background. Therefore, to achieve the banding effect, the List Alternate Background color needs to be set.

The List Headers (bar with text) colors are List Header Foreground and List Header Background.

To Change Foreground and Background Colors

1. Select your store name, then click the Colors link at the top of the data page.
2. Next to the item you want to change, enter the HTML Hex code (#ffffff) if you know it. Otherwise, click the color symbol: . The Color Selector opens.
3. Select the color you want, or enter the RGB values, then click Save.
4. Click the Update button at the bottom of the data page.

Product List Colors: Store has Background Image

Earlier, you learned where you can change the store's background color. The following Product List image is from a Store that uses an image as the background. (You can learn more about adding images in the guide, Change and Add Images in Your Store.)

Notice that both bands (List Alternate Background and the Body Background) have color applied, otherwise the background image would show through, making the text hard to read.

Note: If you use a background image, a more subtle image would be a better idea, so it will not interfere with the text, and so the overall affect will not be distracting. Otherwise, such as shown in the following image, you will need to cover up the background image with a color.

Also, the color for the List Header Background (top bar) and the List Alternate Background is the same. Since the background image is busy, making these two colors the same minimizes additional distraction that another color could add.

The screenshot shows a product list on a website with a background image of a landscape. The list has a header bar and alternating row colors. Red arrows point to specific background areas with labels: 'List Header Background' points to the top bar, 'List Alternate Background' points to the light red rows, and 'Body Background' points to the light blue rows.

Text Colors

Category

After making the major color choices (body background, the navigation bar background, and the category tree background colors), you want to select your text colors. Besides ensuring the selected text colors coordinate with your selected color scheme, you also want to ensure all the text colors can be seen well on your background colors.

So, on the Store Front page, check that the Body Link as well as the Body Viewed Link show up on the Category Tree Background color. (In the sample below, the Body Viewed Link and the Body Link are the same color.)

The image shows a screenshot of a website's category page with several text elements highlighted by red arrows and labels. The page layout includes a navigation bar at the top, a category tree on the left, and a main content area on the right.

Annotations:

- Body Viewed Link: Points to the link "Sign In to Receive Special Discounts" in the category tree.
- Body Text (Category Header): Points to the text "Click a category, or Search in the menu above" in the category tree.
- Body Link: Points to the link "Pencils" in the category tree.
- Body Text (Category Tree Footer): Points to the text "Have fun browsing!" at the bottom of the category tree.
- Body Text (Category Header): Points to the text "Choose from a variety of items..." in the main content area.
- Body Text (Category Footer): Points to the text "Just click a category in the left menu!" in the main content area.

Product List Text Colors

Products List is a good page to use to check that your selected colors for the Body Text, Body Link, and Body Viewed Link coordinate or contrast with your background colors. Typically, you would want the Body Link to stand out more than the Body Viewed Link. Notice that the Body Viewed Links below are different from the body link. Doing so helps your e-shopper know which items they've already browsed. (Sometimes, these links are set to the same colors.)

The screenshot shows a product list page with a dark blue navigation bar at the top containing links: Select Store, Store Front, Account, Search, Product List, Basket Contents, and C. Below the navigation bar, there is a paragraph of text: "Simply click the Add One to Basket button for each of the items you wish to purchase. Buy One Now takes you immediately to Checkout." A red arrow labeled "Body Text" points to this paragraph. Below the text is a table with columns "Code Name" and "Price". The table contains five rows of product information. Red arrows on the left side point to specific elements in the table: "Body Viewed Link" points to the product codes "PN1R" and "PN1B"; "Body Active Link" points to the product code "ODI2"; and "Body Text" points to the text "To see a picture and detailed description of a product, just click the Product Code in the first column" at the bottom of the table. Each row in the table includes a product name, price, and two buttons: "Add One to Basket" and "Buy One Now".

There are design and typographical sites on the Web that list the standard fonts available in the different operating environments. You may want to visit those sites. (See Internet Resources guide.)

When you change the Category Tree Text Face and Size, it changes the Customer Login and Account link, Category Tree Headers and Footers, and the Category links.

To Change Category Tree Font

1. Select your store name, then click the Fonts link.
2. Change the Face and Size, as desired.
3. Click the Update button.

Body Text Font

As it relates to the font face and size, most of the text in your store is considered Body Text. (You will see this designation in the administration interface.)

Headers and Footers

Headers and Footers font face and size, except those for the Category Tree, are determined by the Body Text entries. The sample below shows the header and footer for the top-level category, Desk Top Items.

The image shows a screenshot of a store's navigation menu and product list. The navigation menu is on the left, and the product list is on the right. Red arrows point from the text 'Body Text Font' to various elements in the product list.

Product Text Font

The font face and size of the product headers and footers, product description, and the text entered by Miva Merchant is determined by the Body Text.

The screenshot shows a product page for 'Musical Note Paper'. The page has a dark blue navigation bar at the top with links for 'Home', 'Search', 'Product List', 'Basket Contents', and 'Checkout'. The main content area is light blue. The product title 'Musical Note Paper' is in a large, bold, blue serif font. Below the title is a product image showing a musical staff with a single note and the text 'a Little Note From Mary Jones...' in a decorative, old English font. To the right of the image, product details are listed: 'Quantity in Basket: none', 'Code: NP-NP5', 'Price: $12.00', and 'Shipping Weight: 0.20 (Product data)'. Below this is a quantity input field with '1' and an 'Add to Basket' button. At the bottom, there is a product description and a footer. Changing Header Text Font

When you change the name of a font, you want to make sure that you include the name of fonts that are likely to be present on various operating environments. Notice there are two Font Face names for Body Text to ensure the equivalent font is used for Windows, MacIntosh, and Unix operating systems.
